Diary History and Description
This diary was found by Steven Bower in October, 2015, among the papers of his deceased mother Ethel Miriam (Perry) Bower. The book was in a zip-lock plastic bag, within a zipped vinyl sheath marked "Genealogy". The sheath held other papers apparently collected by Ethel's grandfather, Orin Roe Jenks, and perhaps others, mainly related to the Jenks family. Simeon Perry was Ethel (Perry) Bower's great-great-great grandfather, by Simeon's son Hoxsie Perry.
The diary has no title or covers but is certainly the diary of Simeon Perry 1726-1802, of Charlestown, Rhode Island. Several of the diary entries record Simeon Perry's key life events, e.g., the following three entries:

Diary of Simeon Perry, 1726–1802, of Charlestown, Rhode Island With Daily Entries from January 1789 to November 1802
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The diary entry for 6 February 1794 (image #32) records Simeon Perry's marriage: "very cold moderate at night + snow", and above that, "": was married". Simeon Perry married Hannah Hoxsie on that date. 	Image #32
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The diary entry for 19-23 September 1795 (image #41) is "Brother Stephen Perry Deceased about this [time] I have under stood". 	Image #41
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The final diary entry is a note at the end of October, 1802 (image #84): "I have been unwell more than a month" - that being shortly before Simeon's death on 2 December 1802 (Vital Records of Rhode Island, 1636-1850, First Series, Births, Marriages and Deaths, Vol. VII, p. 228). 	Image #84
It is possible, of course, that some text is by other people, e.g., in the 12 pages of notes following the last diary entries.
Each diary page starts with 3 columns: Day-of-month, Day-of-week, and Wind direction.
Diary dimensions : about 6.5" high, 4.0" wide, 0.5" thick
Historical Context
The diary entries begin six months after the ratification of the constitution of the United States (by the initial 9 states), and four months before George Washington was sworn in as its first president. Seventeen months into the diary, Rhode Island became the thirteenth state to ratify the constitution. At the end of the diary in 1802, Thomas Jefferson was in office as the third president. However, there is no mention of national, state, or even local politics in the nearly 13 years covered by the diary.
Diary Images & Slideshow
Click this cell's link to open the image collection, then open (double click) one of those images to start a slide show.
The "Image # / Link" column in the 'Transcriptions' tab has links to the image associated with each transcription.
For an overview of the diary's images and contents, see the "*" (asterisk) column in the 'Transcriptions' section - that identifies the more notable/interesting diary entries.
Selected Transcriptions in the 'Transcriptions' section - what's included, etc.
Text is transcribed as-is, including capitalization and punctuation (or lack of punctuation).
Superscripts for abbreviated words are transcribed with an apostrophe, e.g., "Will'm" for "Will" with superscript "m".
Where a superscript character is illegible, it is left out and a period used, e.g., "Tho" with illegible superscript becomes "Tho."
I generally transcribed the old-style "f" to "s", as in "Crofs" transcribed to "Cross".
The selected transcriptions include all references to names (including births/marriages/deaths), even when difficult to transcribe, and generally include all references to places.
I have tried to transcribe all text that one might wish to see when reviewing the diary for interesting entries - but that is, of course, subjective.

	Diary of Simeon Perry, 1726–1802, of Charlestown, Rhode Island With Daily Entries from January 1789 to November 1802
	Generally not included : diary entries on the weather, farm and fishing activities, and comings and goings of boats.
	The last five images, #87-91, are correctly upside-down as you turn the diary pages. Apparently these pages were written having opened the diary from the back.
	Special Characters Used in the Transcriptions
	" _ " : underlines indicate illegible letters.
	"[word or phrase]" : a word or phrase in brackets indicates an uncertain or "best guess" transcription.
	"(phrase in parentheses, italics)" : An author's note, not a transcription.
	Photography
	Photos were taken with an iPhone 10 in November 2019, on a kitchen table with an overhead light. Two floor lamps were placed on either side of the table and forward of diary to minimize shadows. Post-it notes were used to hold pages down where needed, by cutting the adhesive strip off, bending it in half, and inserting between pages.

Overview of the Diary Contents
The daily diary entries fall into the following categories:	Frequency
• The daily weather	Daily
• Significant weather events like storms or dry spells	Every 1 to 3 months
• Farming notes on crops, livestock, bees, and timbering	Monthly
• Fishing notes on numbers of fish caught, sometimes by what method (e.g., by seine)	Seasonally
• Quaker meetings, often including friends who attended, guests from afar, and meeting locations	Monthly
• Visitors, including if they stayed (tarried) the night	Monthly
• Travels to other places, often for quaker meetings, including who he stayed with	Monthly
• Births, marriages, and deaths	Several per year
• Natural events, including some drawings that coincide with the new moon	Several per year
• Notes on transactions - purchases and sales, barter, lending of books	Every 1-3 months
• Notes on surveying activity	Zero to several per year
• Mentions of Indians	Several, 1793-1795
• Cures copied from other sources	Several over 13 years
• Illness (notably at the end of October 1802, shortly before he died)	Several over 13 years
• Occasional other observations	Monthly to yearly
The last dozen pages of the diary have various notes, mostly regarding transactions of animal hides and leather tanning/curing. The text on these pages is upside-down, apparently written with the diary opened from the back. Some notes on these pages were added in unused areas, perhaps at a later date.
